St. Louis Health Care Workforce Partners

Together, making health care the career of choice

We're a broad-based consortium of hospitals, schools of nursing and allied health, nursing homes, local government and community agencies working together to promote health care careers.

Health care jobs are important to the community. Today, approximately one in six jobs in Missouri is in health care. Health care offers many diverse career opportunities with education requirements ranging from on-the-job training to post-graduate work.
